Bond Selection

The Sponsor considered the following factors, among others, in selecting the bonds:

- The bonds must be rated as investment-grade or above by at least one of the rating agencies (BBB- or above by Standard & Poor's or Baa3 or above by Moody's);
- The price of the bonds relative to other bonds with comparable characteristics;
- The diversification of bonds with respect to the issuer with no one issuer comprising more than 20% of the final portfolio;
- Attractiveness of the interest payments relative to bonds with similar characteristics; and
- The potential for early return of principal or any event risk which could have a negative impact on the price of the bonds.

PORTFOLIO SUMMARY

All information is as of the inception date. ECR is computed by dividing the estimated net annual interest income per unit by the public offering price. ELTR is calculated using a formula that (i) takes into consideration, and determines and factors in the relative weightings of, the market values, yields (taking into account the amortization of premiums and the accretion of discounts) and estimated retirements of all the bonds in the Trust and (ii) takes into account the expenses and sales charge associated with each unit of the Trust. Therefore, there is no assurance that the ECR and ELTR will be realized in the future.

*Represents the principal amount of the underlying bonds held in the Trust as of the Inception Date and does not take into account the impact of the sale of bonds to pay the deferred sales charge or any expenses of the Trust. Bonds will be sold to pay the deferred sales charges, to meet redemptions, to pay expenses and in other limited circumstances. The sale of bonds will affect the principal amount of bonds included in the Trust and the principal amount of bonds per unit. Units of the Trust, when redeemed or upon termination, may be worth more or less than their original cost and there can be no assurance that a unitholder will receive the principal amount of bonds at any particular point in time.

The amount of distributions of the Trust may be lower or greater than the above stated amounts due to certain factors that may include, but are not limited to, changes in distributions paid by issuers, deduction of Trust expenses or the sale or maturity of Trust securities in the portfolio. In particular, Trust securities will be sold to pay the deferred sales fee and under other circumstances. Fees and expenses of the Trust may vary as a result of a variety of factors including the Trust's size, redemption activity, brokerage and other transaction costs and extraordinary expenses.

RISK CONSIDERATIONS As with all investments, you may lose some or all of your investment in the Trust. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. The Trust also might not perform as well as you expect. This can happen for reasons such as these: Corporate bonds are fixed rate debt obligations that generally decline in value with increases in interest rates. Foreign and U.S. interest rates may rise or fall by differing amounts and, as a result, the Trust's investment in foreign securities may expose the Trust to additional risks. Generally, bonds with longer periods before maturity are more sensitive to interest rate changes. Corporate bonds are subject to credit risk in that an issuer of a bond may be unable to make interest and principal payments when due. In general, lower rated bonds carry greater credit risk. The Sponsor does not actively manage the portfolio. Because the portfolio is fixed and not managed, in general, the Sponsor only sells bonds at the Trust's termination or in order to meet redemptions, for tax purposes, for credit issues or to pay sales charges and expenses. As a result, the price at which a bond is sold may not be the highest price the Trust could have received during the life of the Trust. Units of the Trust are not deposits of any bank and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. No assurance can be given that the Trust's investment objective will be achieved. This objective is subject to the continuing ability of the respective issuers of the bonds to meet their obligations. The Trust is subject to market risk. Market value fluctuates in response to various factors. These can include changes in interest rates, inflation, the financial condition of a bonds' issuer, perceptions of the issuer, ratings on a bond, or political or economic events affecting the issuer. Due to the current state of the economy, the value of the bonds held by the Trust may be subject to steep declines or increased volatility due to changes in performance or perception of the issuers, market factors or economic factors. In the last year, economic activity has declined across all sectors of the economy, and the United States is experiencing increased unemployment. The current economic crisis has affected the global economy with European and Asian markets also suffering historic losses. Extraordinary steps have been taken by the governments of several leading economic countries to combat the economic crisis; however, the impact of these measures is not yet known and cannot be predicted. An issuer or an insurer of the bonds may be unwilling or unable to make principal payments and/or to declare distributions in the future, may call a security before its stated maturity, or may reduce the level of distributions declared. In addition, there is no guarantee that the issuers will be able to satisfy their interest or principal payment obligations to the Trust over the life of the Trust. This may result in a reduction in the value of your units. The financial condition of an issuer or an insurer of the bonds may worsen or its credit ratings may drop, resulting in a reduction in the value of your units. This may occur at any point in time, including during the primary offering period. The income generated by the Trust may be reduced over time in response to bond sales, changes in distributions paid by issuers, unit redemptions and expenses. The Trust includes securities of companies in the consumer products sector. General risks of companies in the consumer products sector include cyclical nature of revenues and earnings, economic recession, currency fluctuations, changing consumer tastes, extensive competition, product liability litigation and increased government regulation. A weak economy and its effect on consumer spending would adversely affect companies in the consumer products sector. The Trust will invest in foreign securities. The Trust's investment in foreign securities presents additional risk. Foreign risk is the risk that foreign securities will be more volatile than U.S. securities due to such factors as adverse economic, currency, political, social or regulatory developments in a country, including government seizure of assets, excessive taxation, limitations on the use or transfer of assets, the lack of liquidity or regulatory controls with respect to certain industries or differing legal and/or accounting standards. Certain corporate bonds may be rated as investment-grade by only one rating agency. As a result, such split-rated securities may have more speculative characteristics and are subject to a greater risk of default than securities rated as investment-grade by both Standard & Poor's and Moody's. The Trust may sell bonds to meet redemptions, pay deferred sales fees and expenses, for credit issues and in other circumstances. Accordingly, the size, diversity, composition, returns and income generated by the Trust may be adversely affected. In addition, such sales of bonds may be at a loss. If such sales are substantial enough, provisions of the Trust's indenture could cause a complete and unexpected liquidation of the Trust before its scheduled maturity, resulting in unanticipated losses for investors. Certain of the bonds included in the Trust may be original issue discount bonds or "zero coupon" bonds, as noted in "Trust Portfolio." These bonds may be subject to greater price fluctuations with changing interest rates and contain additional risks. Inflation may lead to a decrease in the value of assets or income from investments. Please see the Trust prospectus for more complete risk information.
